Dear Parents,

As you are aware the mock exams start next week. All pupil's must arrive to school on time and be fully equipped for their examination. I have spoken to the year group in assembly this morning about the importance of revising thoroughly during the next two weekends and every evening next week. I have also reminded them that they should eat healthily and stay in routine. They should not be staying up late until the exams are finished. I am really pleased with their work in class but the extra work at home will make a massive difference to their result. Those pupils that are successful in the mocks are always successful in the summer. We will present the results to you at the parent's evening in January.

I hope that you have a great weekend but that the students have a productive and boring weekend!

Thanks for your continued support.

P. Abram
